

Tips to LEAD a bidbook effectively

JONATHAN CHAN

2020 JCI PENINSULA PRESIDENT

JC Experience:

- 2022 World Congress Deputy Congress Director (Opening Ceremony)
- 2022 TOYP Deputy Chairman (Result Announcement)
- 2020 LOM President
- 2019 LOM Executive Vice President
- 2017 National SDG Commission Vice Chairman
- 2014 LOM Vice President
- 2013 LOM Director
- 2010 LOM Director
- 2009 Joined JCI Peninsula

Award Judging Experience:

- 2019 JCIHK National Convention

Awards Involved:

- 2020 NC Most Outstanding Chapter President (91+ members) (Merit)
- 2020 NC Best Chapter of the Area (91+ members) (Merit)
- 2020 NC Best Personal Skill Development Program Award
- 2020 NC Best Community Empowerment Program Award
- 2020 NC Best Mainland Affairs Program Award
- 2020 NC Best Growth & Development Program Award (Merit)
- 2020 NC Best Organisation Management for Learning & Knowledge (Merit)
- 2013 ASPAC Best Personal Skill Development Program Award (Top 3)
- 2013 NC Best Personal Skill Development Program Award (Merit)
- 2010 NC Best Growth & Development Program Award (Merit)

Tips #1: Write for a reason

- How to measure your Project/LOM success?
- How to measure your own growth?
- Project sustainability
- To WIN: there is no turning back
- To Management: It's the best gift you can bring back to you buddies

Tips #2: To walk fast, walk alone; to walk far, walk together

Work Individually	Work together
More focus	Good atmosphere
More efficient	Cheer up each other
May stuck in a thought loop	Discussion during writer's block
Best for those who can work independently	Best to have a discipline master

Tips #3: Prepare effectively

Q: How to serve a buffet?

A: One dish at a time.

Tips #4: How a typical NC judge think?

Have I heard of this project?

If yes, was it an impactful project?

Let me dig for the numbers

Let me dig for the photos

Tips #5: Common misses

- An Unfinished bidbook (Bad Time management)
- Unreasonable figures (Suspicion of exaggeration)
- Repeat usage of same points/photos (Not enough content to support)
- Mismatch information/style/graphic

Good Luck 🤪

A colorful promotional banner for the 57th National Convention of JCI Hong Kong. The background features a rainbow gradient and a stylized suspension bridge. On the bridge, there are illustrations of people sitting at tables with laptops, representing a networking or meeting environment. A large white paperclip icon is positioned in the center, with "57th" written inside it. The text "2022.9.24-25" is prominently displayed in white. Logos for JCI Hong Kong, "Be the Change", and "BRIDGE TO THE CHANGE 57th" are visible in the top corners. The location "HKSTP DATA TECHNOLOGY HUB, TKO" is noted in the bottom right corner.

JCI Hong Kong

2022.9.24-25

57TH NATIONAL CONVENTION OF JCI HONG KONG

57th

Be the Change

BRIDGE TO THE CHANGE 57th

HKSTP DATA TECHNOLOGY HUB, TKO